

save middlesex philosophy

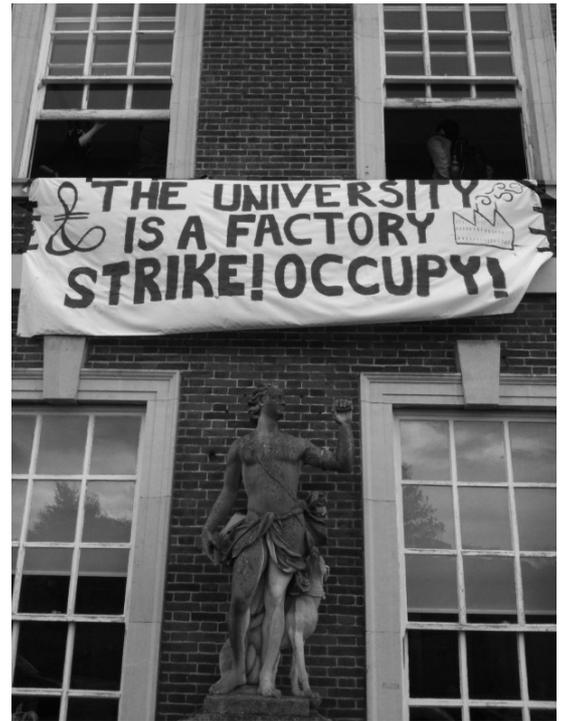

Bullying managers at Middlesex University have suspended three philosophy staff and four philosophy students for the 'crime' of campaigning to save their own jobs and courses.

The Middlesex managers want to shut down the university's world renowned philosophy centre. They say philosophy makes 'no measurable contribution' to their profits.

Students occupied the Mansion Building at Middlesex's Trent Park campus for 12 days in protest at the closure decision. Management reacted by lashing out with suspensions against staff and students. They are threatening everyone involved in this peaceful protest.

We must not let them get away with trashing Middlesex's academic reputation, shutting down successful departments and intimidating staff and students who stand up to them.

Come to our protest rally on Thursday 27 May, 4pm onwards, at Middlesex University's Hendon campus, NW4 4BT. We are also appealing for people to come to Hendon on Friday 28 May from 10am onwards to support students facing disciplinary hearings.
